BOMBMAKER SEEKING KAISER IS ARRESTED

SEATTLE MAN, WHOSE ROOM WAS AN INFERNAL MACHINE PLANT, CAUGHT IN PRUSSIA.

ALTONA, Prussia, July 6. A suspected anarchist named August Rosenzweig, who is said to have been in Seattle, Wash., for some time, was arrested here yesterday.

He is credited with having designed the life of Emperor William.

HARTJE MAY GO TO PRISON BETTER TO-DAY

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 6. Augustus Hartje, indicted in the Hartje divorce case, now on trial here, is to be arrested on a charge of conspiracy to destroy the good name and reputation of his wife, Mary Scott Hartje.

Joined with him in the warrants are his friend, John L. Welshon, president of the Parry-Welshon Hardware Company, and Clifford Howe, the negro correspondent at first named by Hartje in his original divorce petition. Howe is now in jail, having confessed himself editor of perjury in making affidavit as to his relations with Mrs. Hartje.

On top of this come the rumors that the defense has located the woman who is alleged to have forced the letters printed in evidence last week. Her statement is said to be that she did not know the purpose for which the letters were printed, but understood they were to play a part in a disturbance which was being arranged for the stage.

ON MUZZLING DOGS TO HOLD HEARING

SPRINGFIELD, July 6.—In compliance of the new dog law, the Board of Alders will hold a public hearing tonight on the question of muzzling dogs.

Examines Leaders in Hunt for Perjury in Connection with Campaign Contributions.

Prominent Republicans will be put on the rack of District Attorney Moran this afternoon in his office and before the grand jury as to their knowledge of contributions to the Republican State Committee and other matters that were brought to the attention of the county prosecutor when he brought about the conviction of Robert H. Pruett, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, private secretary, for the falsification of campaign funds.

Mr. Moran has made it pretty plain that he is probing for perjury. Senator Lodge was questioned on Monday before the grand jury and the matter was then adjourned until today.

James B. Reynolds is Called.
Among those who are summoned to appear before this body today are James B. Reynolds, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Lieutenant Colonel Thomas T. John; John N. Peterson, John McManis, former Senator Charles H. James and Robert H. Pruett.

Mr. Peterson and Mr. McManis were members of the Republican State Committee in 1904. Mr. Reynolds was a member of the State House of Representatives in 1904. Mr. John was a member of the State House of Representatives in 1904. Mr. Peterson was a member of the State House of Representatives in 1904. Mr. McManis was a member of the State House of Representatives in 1904.

Special Prober for Bribery Cases.

In his relation to the search for perjury, which, he believes, is to be found in the "water-gate" report of the evidence taken from the committee on the Legislature in 1904, Mr. Moran is expected to be a special prober for bribery cases.

"Maliciously Misrepresented," Declares Mrs. Thaw's Mother

PITTSBURGH, July 6.—The following statement was given out today by Mrs. Charles J. Holman, mother of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw:

"I never introduced my daughter to Stanford White. I never took her to theatre managers. I accompanied her, as I would not permit her going alone. I have been maliciously misrepresented. My story will be told at the proper time. Am not in strict seclusion. Have received all friends, but have denied reporters."

"MRS. CHARLES J. HOLMAN."

PACKERS GUILTY OF ACCEPTING REBATES

GOVERNMENT WINS VICTORY TO-DAY IN CASE OF SCHWARTZCHILD & SULLIZERGER.

CHICAGO, July 6.—The government has won a great victory in the Federal Court today before Judge Landis in the Chicago & Alton case. The government has secured a judgment against the Chicago & Alton Railroad Company, which is a subsidiary of the Schwartzchild & Sullizerger Company, for accepting rebates from the government.

Great Battle of Wealth and Influence Over Harry Thaw Begins in New York—Array of Legal Talent on Both Sides Is Extraordinary.

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Believing that she can help save her son's life, Mrs. William Thaw, the mother of Harry Kendall Thaw, will return to New York from London immediately and join forces with other members of the rich and influential family in behalf of the murderer of Stanford White.

This information was received to-day in a cable to the AMERICAN from London, where Mrs. Thaw is the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, the Countess and Earl of Yarmouth. The statement was made by Blair Thaw, a brother of Harry.

The mother of Harry Thaw was on the ocean bound for the other side when the roof garden tragedy occurred. Although all other passengers on the ship heard of it by wireless telegraph before the vessel docked, it was kept from Mrs. Thaw. She was finally told the shocking news by her daughter when she reached her home.

ARRAYED FOR BITTER FIGHT.
This today was the Thaw and White families, with their respective attorneys, lined up in one of the bitterest legal battles New York has ever seen. On the one hand, son and mother. On the other, it is a struggle to avenge the killing of a husband, a father and a brother.

The district attorney's office, which is in the battle at the ally of the Whites, has been asked to indict Mrs. Thaw in an attempt to limit a most vital piece of evidence. Mr. Garrison, the "murder lawyer," has been searching for an affidavit which it was alleged, Evelyn Nesbit made upon Stanford White's advice in connection with the shooting.

MRS. THAW'S MOTHER SPEAKS.
The members of the two families with their noted lawyers and skillful detectives make a formidable array. Mrs. Thaw's attorney, Mr. Thaw, is expected to arrive in New York today for the first time in several months. Mr. Thaw is expected to arrive in New York today for the first time in several months. Mr. Thaw is expected to arrive in New York today for the first time in several months.

"MY LONG HOPE IS FULFILLED AT LAST," SAYS HELEN KELLER

Famous Blind Girl Thanks Governor for Establishing Commission to Benefit Sightless.

Today is one of the happiest in the life of blind Helen Keller as she contemplates the blessed satisfaction of the fruition of her long-cherished hopes in the appointment by Governor Curtis of a commission for the benefit of the blind, of which the governor has most fittingly made her a member. She sums up her gratitude in the words:

CHURCHILL TO FIGHT B. & M. LOBBY IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Famous Novelist Agrees to Run for Governor on Platform Hostile to Railroad Trust.

COLUMBIAN, N. H. July 6. The friends here before the voters of New Hampshire, according to Winston Churchill, the novelist, who has consented to run for the Republican nomination for governor, is the "non-interference of the Boston & Maine Railroad and any other corporation in the politics and government of the State."

Mr. Churchill, whose home is in London, has been asked to run for the Republican nomination for governor. He is now a candidate for the Senate, on a platform not dissimilar from that which has been outlined as that on which he wishes to run for governor. He has written a long letter, according to the offer of the club to work for his nomination.

Mr. Churchill's latest book, "Anastasia," is the result of his knowledge of the life of the Russian empress, and is the subject of his latest novel. He has written a long letter, according to the offer of the club to work for his nomination.

Issue Before the People.

"We are going to put the issue before the people of the State," said Mr. Churchill to a group of friends here today, "and make the best fight we can for what we believe to be the original principles of the Republican party. Shall we succeed? All that depends on the public conscience. It will depend on more things, principally upon the public conscience, than upon anything else."

Public Humiliated.

Later the committee would "discuss with existing conditions in New Hampshire."

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, JULY 6, 1906

"Big Money Is Our Real Power"

You May Play Politics with the LITTLE Fellows. You May THREATEN the Big Fellows, if You Threaten in Generalizations. But When It Comes to DOING Anything to the Big Ones, Know How to Pull the Right Strings

You know that our Congress—labors just ended—passed a sort of a bill to regulate common carriers. It is not very much of a bill, although there is SOME good in it. Not quite ALL of the recent public indignation was wasted. Even the Senators—having heard from the people—have been inclined to give way a little and to temporarily turn against the big powers that select and elect them.

It is a well-meaning bill, and it will enable the merchant or other shipper of a fighting turn to get partial justice—if he is determined, rich, able to fight for a long time in the courts, not afraid of the permanent enmity of railroads, not afraid to argue an appeal before a judge SELECTED BY THE RAILROAD, willing to go on up to the United States Supreme Court beyond that judge, etc., etc.

It is a bill that at least puts on record the FACT that the PEOPLE HAVE A RIGHT TO TREAT RAILROADS AS NATIONAL HIGHWAYS, and to compel railroad managers to treat all American citizens alike, giving to all the same privileges, the same rates, etc.

Of course, all American citizens WON'T HAVE THE SAME TREATMENT. There will still be discrimination. There will be blackmailing of business men—as on the Pennsylvania road—compelling big presents in return for freight cars. There will be discrimination in favor of big fellows as against little ones, as before.

But at least the PRINCIPLE has been recognized. Our country has formally declared, through its Congress, that the railroad business is PUBLIC, not PRIVATE, business, that the people retain final ownership of every road bed in America, and can take over the whole thing (first jailing the owners) if the ordinary citizen is swindled through discrimination.

For some time to come HE WILL BE SWINDLED IN THE OLD WAY, OF COURSE. But he has on his books a law that will enable him to enforce railroad honesty IF HE WANTS TO, and IF he can arrange his courts to work for the citizens and not for the corporations.

Did you notice, dear citizens of the land of equality, how Mr. Rockefeller's Standard Oil slipped out of the rate bill, and through the well-greased fingers of the Senators, whose leader, Aldrich, is young Rockefeller's father-in-law?

First a few words on the history of this effort to make the common carriers obey the laws and SERVE the people instead of swindling them.

Our readers will remember discussion of these matters in this newspaper for some time past. The editor of this newspaper in 1904, serving his first term in Congress from the Eleventh New York District, introduced the rate bill which Mr. Roosevelt adopted and indorsed almost entirely, and which Congress, at the railroads' order, cut to bits.

On September 4, 1905, as the records of Congress show, W. R. Hearst, expressing the opinions of his New York constituents and of five millions of daily readers throughout the country, introduced a bill entitled "A bill to supplement and amend the act entitled 'An act to regulate commerce,' of February 4, 1887, approved February 4, 1887, and the acts amendatory and supplemental thereto."

This bill, introduced by the editor of this newspaper one year after the introduction of his original railroad bill, was intended to reach the powerful, law-defying gentry of the Standard Oil Trust.

The Hearst bill of September, 1905, was drawn to bring all companies owning pipe lines under the control of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The bill made the Standard Oil pipe lines and all other pipe lines subject to all regulations that common carriers operating railroads are subject to. The Hearst pipe line bill would have permitted all persons, owners of oil wells, dealers in oil, etc., to ship oil through pipe lines at all times on equal terms for transportation with other customers, and in the order of their application for transportation.

Under the Hearst bill the pipe lines would have been compelled to play their part as freight carriers, existing by public permission like other common carriers. The Standard Oil and any other pipe line owners would have been compelled to provide receptacles for the oil at either end, just like the freight stations of railroads. The Hearst bill compelled the pipe line owners to keep oil for a reasonable length of time, to charge all shippers alike, to make charges reasonable, and to give the Interstate Commerce Commission power to enforce penalties, fix reasonable rates, as in the Hearst bill affecting railroads.

AND THEN HEARST BILL IN REGARD TO RAILROADS AND THE STANDARD OIL punished violation of law BY IMPRISONMENT without option of a fine.

That bill, as our readers know, is what the country wants. It simply said to railroads and pipe line owners:

"The railroads and the pipe lines are to-day what the high roads were in olden times. They are NOW the high roads of commerce and they are ESSENTIAL TO THE BUSINESS MAN'S VERY EXISTENCE. You are permitted to make big money and to have vast fortunes, BUT PENDING GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP, which is the same solution of the transportation problem, you must treat all citizens alike and not strangle one community or one business man to build up another."

Is it necessary to tell you, dear sovereign citizens of this glorious republic, that not a word of this control of pipe lines by the people was allowed to go through Congress?

The pipe line provision WAS in the bill. The Republicans having started howling the Hearst railroad bill (to mutilate it later) went bravely ahead and adopted the Hearst pipe line bill also.

But whereas the Hearst railroad bill was only mutilated, only changed around to let railroad select their judges, leaving out protection demanded by farmers, stock raisers, fruit growers, etc., whom the Hearst bill sought to protect, THE HEARST PIPE LINE BILL WAS KILLED ABSOLUTELY. It was killed deadlier than "Marry," deadlier than any door nail.

"What?" said Rockefeller, "give other owners of oil wells a chance for their lives?"

"What?" asked Aldrich, the Standard Oil's father-in-law, "common oil dealers ship oil in the big pipes and have a chance to make money?" Rockefeller pulled his strings, and you could see dozens of legs in the House and the Senate written, Aldrich declared to his little band of venalable patrons and donors and his power the owns a few scattered votes here and there in Senate and House.

The big men of Standard Oil and the big crowd of big men whom Standard Oil controls who was necessary. All in all, it was a very good thing because they continue to rob the ordinary run of small people." (THE STANDARD OILS)

It was too ridiculous.

AND YOU will be ridiculous if you try to find in this bill to control common carriers anything that Standard Oil did not want there.

The real government of the United States is in France just now. It sits under the curly little Rockefeller wig, in that "ivory temple" of thought which one of the old writers used to talk about.

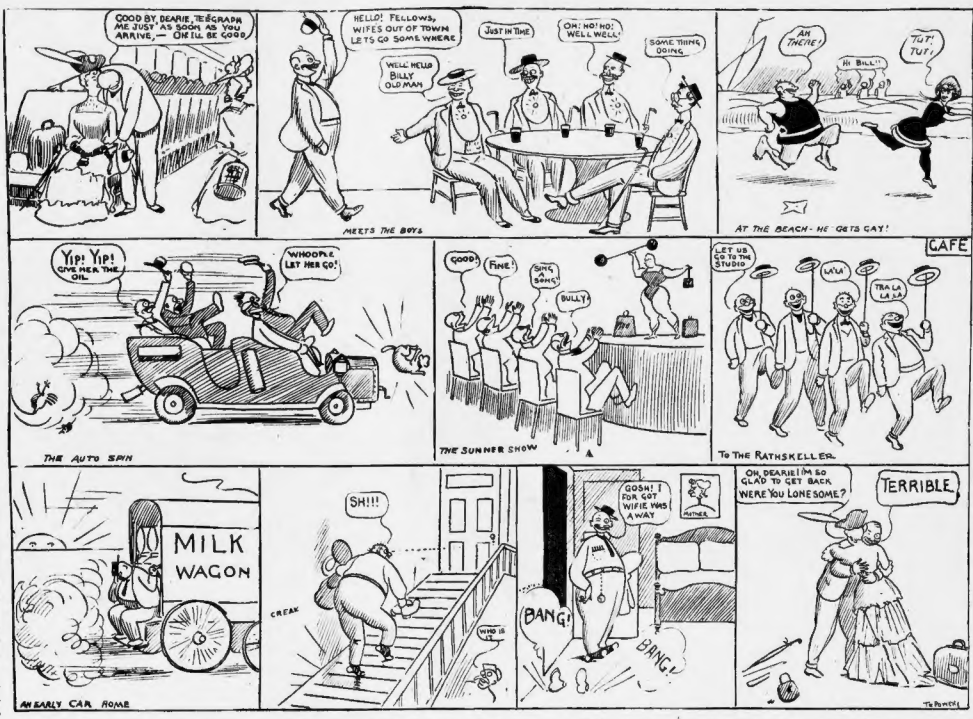

WHEN will real American government come out from under that wig and go back to the City of Washington and the hands of the people? Just as soon as you, fellow citizens, make up your minds to have it so. Just as soon as you decide to vote in such a way as even an Aldrich or Rockefeller will understand.

They think they own YOU because they buy your Senate, your House, your judges—legislators wholesale. You must undeceive them. They are keen men. They will see the point if you make it clear.

DR. HEARST'S HILL, says Dr. Oeder was behind the time when he said that most people ought to die at forty.

Forty will do for exceptional professional men," says Dr. Holt. "But twenty-five is the working age limit for the ordinary working man or woman."

"The age limit for real work at twenty-five—tut, tut, Dr. Holt! Why, a man doesn't begin to know what work really means until he is twenty-five. Just after that next young man sees something different, and he's not sure if the latest popular tune and jargon show him about the girl at the show last night, and doing a jig step or two between shelves, that they hardly have any use for a shovel at all."

As for the professional man and his forty years, why, it takes a doctor or a lawyer or a preacher forty years to get to where he can afford to put up the right kind of a sign for his study window.

Who are the big preachers to-day, Dr. Holt? The little nobody, the little old fellow, whose brains are cleared as they grate."

You can't mention a single minister of real power and influence who's under forty to save your life, and the doctors—when do you call in when your wife is sick? Little shipper-smugglers with a lot of dissecting room jokes fresh on their too light-colored tongues, or a man old enough to know something besides what is written in his medicine book."

If you were to vetire all the working-men who were twenty-five and all the professional men when they were forty, there would be no work and very small potatoes of the profession left. Let me tell you, Dr. Holt, that's not what we want."

As for the rest of us, none old, interesting, drollish, that we are all likely to be before we get a chance to draw

A good, long breath—why, we'll last for our own length about that age limit, and it please you, fair sir, why, you haven't begun to know what it's all about. You'll have to busy about ten old selves before you know enough to appreciate the world through the eyes of yourself."

Where's your burying ground, and how many graves are there in it? There is the little goose of a girl who thought she knew more than anybody else in the world—poor, silly, conceited little thing.

She died long, long since, and the world was better off when she was gone. I put up a headstone for her just because she was a relation of mine."

And then there was the romantic creature who wanted to be pale and interesting and have love affairs with mysterious strangers—dead, dead, long ago and buried, please Providence, and the other ambitious dreamer—the other, the calculating worldling who believed, poor fool, that money and place and power would be counted a thing in his life for real happiness."

There they lie in my little private graveyard, each one with a foolish little headstone at her foolish little head. Where have you buried yours, my friend?

Don't forget the place. When you get out of patience with people who cannot be good and who will not be happy, and who do not know enough to be kind—just go out to that little graveyard and look at the little row of graves."

Throw a careless flower on one or two of them. If you want to, but anyway, as you look remember—and in remembering learn the one great lesson of life—the lesson of charity and tolerance."

We none of us begin to live until we have learned to die and be buried and be glad of it."

My friend—retire at forty years—don't please you, Dr. Holt, even if we do come from Portland, Me.

The Bottlecorks Visit Aunt Mary--Almost

By Wex Jones

"FELIX, will you bring me that time-table; we'll never get over to Scrabbleville if we don't hurry, boys, and Aunt Mary asked me to be sure to be there by 5 o'clock, or the ice would be all melted in the ice-box, so hurry and get it as soon as you can. Here, button me up."

"You clumsy child! Don't pinch my skin off like that," says the little brother, and he fixes up his little brother. Here it is, train from Scrabbleville to Boston—there's not what we want here it is—Train from Boston to Scrabbleville—8:01, 7:04, 6:07, 5:00, 4:03, 3:06, 2:09, 1:11."

Here's a trap we can catch—leaves Boston 11:11. When does it arrive. "It doesn't," says the little brother. "Mercy. It doesn't arrive at all! It skips all the stations to Worcester."

"I'll have to look at Scrabbleville and work back."

"Wait till I look at this time-table again. I wish I knew the man that invented this—he must be a puzzle editor on some paper. I'll smack his head for him. All the trains to Boston leave away before they get to Scrabbleville."

"What you mean?—but I want to live in such a place for I don't know—but she was always queer."

"Here she was a fool to marry that mutt. John Poppleton—not that he's such a fool as your father—but to live in that place and expect me to visit her."

"Take off your Sunday clothes, children. We'll stay at home to-day."
